

Bad Inc.

the best of BAD COMPANY

When they exploded on the scene in 1973, Bad Company was an instant, worldwide hit. From the classic Can't Get Enough, to the anthemic Shooting Star, the band have cemented themselves as one of the best-loved rock bands of all time.

Since 2012, Bad Inc. have delivered those infectious hits, electrifying audiences all over the southeast.

Led by veteran front man Kenny Wendland, the power quartet plus keys, rocks through the Bad Company set with the style and vibe of the original, Mr. Wendland channeling the soulful vocals of the legendary Paul Rogers, one of rock's greatest singers.

Guitarist Jeff Winters powers through the material with a reverence reserved for true fans while bassist Miguel Gonzales – who actually played with Bad Company's Brian Howe for more than twenty years – keeps the whole package thundering on track.

To be sure, Bad Inc. delivers a memorable show always leaving audiences wanting more; a show not to be missed!
